

Three Ways that the Fanconi Anemia Research Fund can help you

Formed in 1989, the Fanconi Anemia Research Fund (FARF) is the largest and longest-established FA organisation in the world. Fanconi Hope works closely with FARF in many areas, for example, jointly funding the International FA Gene Therapy Working Group for 10 years, and now working with FARF on an International Patient Support Group collaboration.

1

Subscribe to their mailing list at www.fanconi.org to:-

- Receive Newsletters
- Receive Invitations to Events
 - Annual FA Family Meeting at Camp Sunshine, Maine, USA
 - Annual International FA Adults Meeting
 - Annual Scientific Symposium

Camp Sunshine

2

Become part of the worldwide FA community and find others to talk to, here and abroad.

- Facebook Page: www.facebook.com/fanconianemiaresearchfund
- Secret Facebook Group: www.facebook.com/groups/FARFsupportUSA
- Join their Worldwide Family Directory. This will allow you to find other FA families in the UK and elsewhere who are willing to be contacted. (Please visit www.fanconi.org and click on "Register or Log in" in the upper right corner to add or manage your directory information.

3

Download their Handbook.

Fanconi Anemia: Guidelines for Diagnosis and Management from their website www.fanconi.org

